DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-36 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Carlson et al. (US Pat# 6,253,074).

Regarding claims 1 and 13, Carlson teaches a cellular telecommunications system wherein a call made to a party roaming or a user making a call while roaming can be charged to a designated party other than one operating the phone including roaming charges incurred (see disclosure). Carlson fails to specifically teach that a calling party, called party or a third party can be billed for a call but it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made that either party can be billed for a call made by a mobile terminal including a business in order to reduce charges undertaken by a user for telephony usage based on stored call charge recipient.

Detecting whether the mobile telephone is present within an area reads simply on roaming in a VLR.

Regarding claims 2-8, 14-20 and 26-32, see the explanation as set forth regarding claim 1.

Regarding claims 9-12 and 21-24, the examiner takes official notice that it's well known to sense location of a user by using the claimed limitations.

Regarding claims 25 and 33-36, see the explanation as set forth regarding claim 1 in addition to the fact it would have been obvious to implement the teaching of Carlson in a computer medium with the claimed limitations to expedite processing.
